

INDIGENOUS SCHOOLS

STUDENTS

TEACHERS

INDIGENOUS LEADERSHIP STRUCTURES

A growing number of schools are managed by Indigenous communities and nations themselves. Here are just a few examples:

British Columbia has a First Nations Education Steering Committee that has board-like decision making power for almost all the First Nations schools in British Columbia:

<http://www.fnesc.ca/>

The Innu in Labrador have their own school board: <http://www.innueducation.ca/>

The James Bay Cree in Quebec also have their own school board:

<https://www.cscree.qc.ca/en/our-organization>

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT